Journeys with George

It's "Dubya" unplugged! This video diary captures journalist Alexandra Pelosi's 18 months on the road covering the presidential campaign of George W. Bush. The film takes an unflinching look at the conflicts, contradictions and seductions of big-time political reporting—and the tactics used by candidates to win over reporters. (AC) TVPG-1:15. Over the years, Shock Video has brought HBO viewers the most titillating, tawdry and (sometimes) tasteless clips ever shown on TV around the globe. This special presents a collection of the ultimate clips, including a Russian lonely-hearts dating program, a topless all-girl soccer game, a Japanese woman who breaks chopsticks with her buns of steel, and a bearded naked dancer named Gustaf. ## UNCLE SADDAM

Saddam Hussein is best known for causing turmoil in the Middle East, but in this documentary, the Iraqi dictator reveals his ideas about hygiene (women should bathe twice a day), provides fishing tips (use grenades) and shows off his hats (including bulletproof ones). Journalist Joël Soler recorded this none-too-flattering look at Saddam, as well as footage of the palaces and statues that the dictator has erected to preserve his legacy. (AC,AL,BN) TV14/S,L,D-1:07.
